VANCOUVER, CANADA, July 15, 2002: Global Village Consulting Inc., a Vancouver based web application developer, today announced that Ann Arbor Public Schools (AAPS) has purchased a license for GVC SiteMaker~ to aid them in creating websites for the Ann Arbor Public School Board in Michigan. AAPS has also contracted Global Village Consulting to provide product support for GVC SiteMaker and to provide hosting services for the application and its resulting websites.

Deb Small, Executive Director for Community Relations, stated that after examining other commercial products, the AAPS IT department determined that GVC SiteMaker was their best option due to its flexibility and ease of use. "There is just no other product out there like it." she said. Ann Arbor Pulic Schools is planning to use GVC SiteMaker to create websites for the various department of the School Board and eventually may extend its usage to include websites for the various schools and perhaps even teachers.

Because of its design, GVC SiteMaker enables users to turn their ideas and information into web sites easily and without much knowledge regarding the technical aspect of website creation or maintenance. It is designed to overcome barriers such as finding the right directory to deposit files, designing layouts and navigation tools, and making pages and files accessible to selected visitors. Thus, users of GVC SiteMaker can create an impressive website without special tools or knowledge. But for added flexibility, users who are able to use such tools can apply their knowledge to the designing more sophisticated content within GVC SiteMaker.
